

EDUCATION PROGRAM

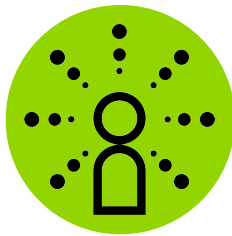

Human trafficking's covert nature is one of the largest obstacles to its eradication. Spreading awareness and informing people about how they can make a difference is key to a future where no human being is forced, coerced, defrauded, and/or manipulated for someone else's profit.

Our education program is built on the premise that every person has the power to fight against human trafficking using their own unique skills, networks, and consumer choices. Whether it's an education workshop developed for university students, a session designed specifically for healthcare professionals, or the opportunity to take part on a panel of experts and advocates, LifeWay Network is committed to tailoring our message to make the greatest impact.

We've reached over 15,400 people over the span of 300 education activities and training. Participants come away with increased awareness of this issue globally and locally, and walk away with what they can do to confront human trafficking in their communities.

AFTER AN EDUCATION SESSION WITH LIFEWAY NETWORK:

Participants felt 50% more aware about human trafficking locally, nationally, and internationally.

Participants felt 40% more confident that they would be able to identify a human trafficking situation.

94% of our participants plan to share what they've learned with their friends, family, and colleagues.
